Come on in, the Water's Fine: Real Tools for Career Transition

Heidi A. Ray, Esq., Managing Program Attorney
CLE International, Denver

9:15 What's out There?

Do you often secretly wish someone would rescue you from your legal job and offer you an exciting and innovative position outside the law? Are you unsure how to make that dream happen? Hear inspirational stories of the many lawyers who have successfully left the law for fabulous careers and learn how you can do it, too. We will explore alternative careers available to lawyers within the traditional practice of law, around the practice, or outside the practice altogether. We will look at an overview of the process of career transition and learn some important rules for career changers!

Jennifer Loud Ungar, Esq.
Private Consultant, Program Chair
Denver

10:15 Morning Break

10:30 "Shift Happens"

How to Repackage and Market Yourself for Career Change

If you want to transition into a different career, whether within or outside of the law, how do you cull from your background transferable skills and accomplishments—and redirect them to different audiences? You will learn the basics of how to build and communicate a new career identity, including a thorough assessment, resume building and presentation.

Angelique Electra, Esq. Principal

11:45 Lunch Break

1:00 The Pros and Cons of Going Solo

Going solo may not be as scary as you think. If you're disenchanted with law firm politics, but not ready to leave the profession altogether, solo practice may be an attractive option. Hanging out your own shingle offers a host of advantages: freedom to choose clients, flexible hours, and a high return on your hourly work, among others. In this session, you will learn the fundamental factors you should consider before going solo, how to get started, and ways to build a niche for yourself in the legal market.

Marian L. Carlson, Esq., President
Carlson Performance Strategies, Denver

1:45 Harness Your Purpose and Passion

Making the move to a new career or adjusting your current career is exciting and daunting. How can you make powerful changes that bring you more professional and personal fulfillment? Learn how to identify work that you want to do. In this interactive presentation, you'll discover how to take steps toward the life you truly want to live.

Cynthia Morris
Certified Professional Co-Active Coach
Original Impulse, Boulder

2:45 Afternoon Break

3:00 Everything You Wanted to Know About Career Change but Were Afraid to Ask

Why is career change so prevalent? Is it really difficult? What are the important factors to consider? More than ever, people are choosing to make a career change for more job satisfaction, happiness, and alignment of their values. Discussion will also include information on adult development, researched factors on career change, and the importance of vision.

Program Chair Jennifer Loud Ungar has counseled over 600 attorneys and law students in career transition and career success. Through her consulting company, found at www.career-moves.com, she provides individual career consulting, small group workshops and seminars for lawyers seeking to achieve maximum career satisfaction. She has spoken to groups of law students, lawyers and other professionals on subjects such as alternative careers for lawyers, networking, interviewing, resume and cover letter preparation, the hidden job market, Myers-Briggs Type Indicator, and many other topics. She is a co-adjunct professor at the University of Denver School of Law, having taught Jurisprudence to law students in the fall of 2002. Before opening her consulting firm, Jennifer practiced law for two law firms and a non-profit organization in Denver. In 2000, she joined the Career Services Office at the University of Denver College of Law as the Associate Director and was later promoted to Director of Student Affairs.	Marian L. Carlson is the President of Carlson Performance Strategies, Inc., a consulting firm specializing in attorney training and professional development. Through her firm, Ms. Carlson presents training programs on legal writing, client service, staff relations, business development, leadership and attorney management to attorneys at all levels of experience. Before becoming a consultant, Ms. Carlson practiced law for 15 years, successfully representing clients in civil and complex commercial litigation in state and federal courts. Having practiced in a wide variety of environments including a solo practice, a litigation boutique, a medium-sized firm and two national firms, Ms. Carlson has extensive experience in litigation practice and in the processes that affect the professional development of lawyers. Angelique Electra is the Principal of The JurisDoctor, a national career and professional development firm committed to enhancing the work lives of attorneys and JDs. Since 1997, she has assisted many attorneys in achieving more fulfilling career lives, through renewed focus on natural and preferred gifts, talents and skills, a sense of purpose in work, and greater confidence and competence in the art of self-marketing. She has both a law degree and an MBA from Yale University, and practiced corporate and securities law at a major New York Law firm, specializing in venture capital transactions, before working as a corporate attorney for American Express Company and First Data Corporation. She now splits her professional life between corporate practice with TeleTech Holdings, Inc., and The JurisDoctor. She has written The JurisDoctor Profiles, a self-coaching program and workbook, designed to assist attorneys and JDs to articulate their career visions.	Raymond P. Micklewright is a former Chair of the Colorado Bar Association's Ethics Committee, where he has been a member since 1986. He is also the Executive Director of the Faculty of Federal Advocates Pro Bono Mentoring Program. He practices civil and commercial litigation, criminal defense and construction law. Cynthia Morris guides her clients to choose empowering and meaningful lives. She is a Certified Professional Co-Active Coach and is nationally certified through the Coaches Training Institute in San Rafael, California. Her company, Original Impulse, was founded in Spring, 2000. She is the immediate Past President of the Boulder Coaches Alliance and is a member of the International Coach Federation. She coaches writers, artists and visionaries, guiding powerful change in individuals. She currently leads workshops through Original Impulse, Colorado Free University and The Lifelong Learning Program at Boulder Valley School District.
