- Internet Professionals
- Telecommunications Professionals
- Government Representatives

Voice over Internet Protocol ("VoIP") technology is a means of transmitting voice (telephone calls) over packet-switched data networks, such as the Internet. VoIP is one of the most rapidly growing technological industries today. This new technology raises a host of intriguing and controversial issues. Join our distinguished faculty as they explore topics, including: Proper Regulatory Structure and Pricing Regulations; Address Tags and Emergency 911 Access; Wiretapping and Privacy; Universal Service Funds; and The Technology of VoIP: How It Works and How It Will Work for You. Don't miss this unique opportunity to explore these cutting-edge issues with the nation's leading experts.

Featuring Speakers From:

- Qwest Network
- Comcast
- MCI
- Evolve Adapt Survive
- University of Colorado School of Law
- Adelphia Communications Corporation
- Verizon Communications
- AT&T Corp.

...and the nation's leading law firms!
