Program Co-Chairs

Paul deHolczer is a partner at Moses, Koon & Brackett, a firm that focuses its practice on eminent domain issues. He served as a law clerk to the Honorable Frank McGowan of the South Carolina Circuit Court and Assistant Chief Counsel to the South Carolina Department of Transportation. He is also a member of the South Carolina Bar Government Law Section and a frequent lecturer on eminent domain-related topics.

Jerry Finkel is the founding member of his firm. He is a past President of the South Carolina Trial Lawyers Association. He is a Distinguished Visiting Professor at the Charleston School of Law and an Adjunct Professor at the University of South Carolina School of Law. He was the attorney for David H. Lucas in the seminal regulatory takings case, Lucas v. South Carolina Coastal Council, 112 S.Ct. 2886, 120 L.E. 2d 798 (1992).

Keith Babcock is a former South Carolina Assistant Attorney General and is a founding member of his firm, practicing in the areas of condemnation, inverse condemnation, business litigation and professional negligence. He is a South Carolina Bar Examiner and an active member of the Owner's Counsel of America, a voluntary network of experienced eminent domain trial lawyers.

Richard D. Bybee concentrates on litigation matters, including construction, environmental, direct eminent domain actions and inverse condemnation cases. The firm has been involved in a number of significant eminent domain cases serving as trial and appellate counsel, including Lucas v. S.C. Coastal Council, Georgia Department of Transportation v. Jasper County, and Gray v. S.C. Highways and Department of Transportation.

Melvin Cooper serves as the FHWA authority to his division, SCDOT and local agencies for the federal-aid-right-of-way program. This involves interpreting federal regulations, including the Uniform Act and the Code of Federal Regulations.

Armand Derfner and his firm concentrate on trials, appellate and Supreme Court litigation in state and federal courts and administrative hearings. He is a member of the Charleston County Bar Association, District of Columbia Bar Association, South Carolina Bar Association, the Association of Trial Lawyers of America and the National Employment Lawyers Association.

Jacquelyn Dickman practices in the areas of environmental law, health and healthcare law and administrative law. She currently serves as the Chief Counsel for Environmental Quality Control.

Deborah Haskell has performed consulting and valuation assignments on a regional, national and international basis for private and public clients. She has performed consulting and valuation assignments on a national and international basis for major corporate clients, law firms, lending institutions, institutional investors, developers and private individuals.

Donald Liestner is a Program Manager I for the South Carolina Department of Transportation where he oversees the relocation activities, as well as other activities that are involved with the right-of-way process. He is an active member of the International Right-of-Way Association and continues to keep abreast of changes in the relation to right-of-way.

William Padgett practices commercial and business litigation, construction litigation, and bankruptcy litigation, in both state and federal courts. In his experience, he has developed a particular interest in insurance and takings law.

Justice Costa Pleicones served as a part-time Municipal Judge for the City of Columbia, and was elected County Attorney for Richland County. In 1991, he was elected Circuit Court Judge for the 5th Judicial Circuit. He assumed his present position as an associate justice of the South Carolina Supreme Court in 2000.

Pamella Seay teaches ethics and constitutional law. She is the author of Ethics: New Meaning for an Old Idea and is a regular speaker on ethics issues. She served six years on the Florida Bar Professional Ethics Committee.

Stephen Spitz is a Professor of Law at the Charleston School of Law. He has taught courses in remedies, real estate transactions and environmental law, including a seminar on the federal Superfund law. At USC, he won the Gedney M. Howe Outstanding Teaching Award. He is former chair of the State Water Law Revision Committee. Prior to becoming a professor, he practiced law in Omaha, Nebraska.

Barbara Wessinger counsels on condemnation, construction and outdoor advertising legal issues for the South Carolina Department of Transportation. She is a graduate of the Governor's EXCEL leadership institute, the Strategic Training for Agency Representative Program, and Certified Public Managers. She has also been Chairwoman of the National Alliance of Highway Beautification Agencies.
