| Program Chair Jack R. Sperber represents landowners, developers, tenants and condemners in a wide variety of complex eminent domain cases. He has represented many landowners in acquisitions by the E-470 Public Highway Authority, CDOT, RTD and other governmental entities in all aspects of condemnation and relocation benefits. | Thomas L. Fellows is an expert in litigation and forensic appraisal issues such as eminent domain, contaminated properties and endangered species. He has been an expert witness in state and federal courts, and works with conservation easements and other open space issues. | Donald M. Ostrander practices real estate litigation with a focus on condemnation, inverse condemnation, urban renewal projects, regulatory takings, and trespass actions. He was previously with the Colorado Department of Highways. |
| Jody H. Alderman focuses on transactional and litigation work related to real estate. She has litigated numerous eminent domain, inverse condemnation and takings cases. She represents private landowners, quasi-municipal corporations and public entities. | Leslie A. Fields is a nationally-recognized eminent domain expert and has represented private landowners in the condemnation of approximately 15,000 acres of land, including mineral and water rights for Denver International Airport, touted as one of the largest condemnations in Colorado history. | Kenneth J. Puncerelli has been involved for the last 20 years in planning and designing thousands of acres of land. As a CLARB certified landscape architect, he has worked on site scale construction projects as well as amenity based master-planned communities in over 30 states. |
| Susan K. Altes has over 20 years of experience. She is responsible for planning and acquiring all properties related to the construction of transit corridors, the acquisition of property for Park-n-Rides, relocation, property disposition, and management of leased RTD fee properties. | Jack F. Fox is a commercial real estate developer and owner who is often on the receiving end of takings and exactions. He has also been very involved in the drafting and passage of some of the recent state statutes covering eminent domain. | Elizabeth D. Robertson practices real estate litigation with a focus on eminent domain law. She authored an article on Colorado's electronic filing system, which was published in The Colorado Lawyer. She is a member of the International Right-of-Way Association. |
| Kent Bagley assists homebuilders, developers and other businesses in obtaining development approvals or entitlements from local government agencies. He specializes in land use planning, zoning and development requirements, conflict resolution, and public agency coordination. | Robert Grube is a Right-of-Way Manager for Region 4 of the Colorado Department of Transportation (CDOT) in Greeley. | Kenneth K. Skogg specializes in complex commercial litigation with an emphasis on real estate and eminent domain. He is a frequent lecturer on eminent domain law and practice. |
| Thomas J. Dougherty, II, represents clients in commercial litigation, high technology, real estate and land use, and eminent domain. He was previously law clerk to Colorado Attorney General Gale Norton. | Charles J. Hegarty has over 19 years' experience as an appraiser and has testified as an expert witness in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court and in numerous district courts in Colorado. He is has been a member of the Colorado Society of CPA's for 22 years. | Larry D. Tannenbaum has been with the Colorado Attorney General's Office for 19 years. He currently represents CDOT in civil litigation, with an emphasis on eminent domain proceedings. His duties also involve outdoor advertising enforcement. |
| Robert R. Duncan focuses on right-of-way acquisition for governmental entities, eminent domain law, private condemnation, highway access matters, real estate law and civil litigation. | Charles F. Luce, Jr., focuses on intellectual property and issues relating to the practice and regulation of lawyers. He has been a Lecturer in Law in Professional Responsibility at the University of Denver College of Law, and since 1986 has been a member of the CBA's Ethics Committee. | M. Patrick Wilson has represented private property owners and governmental entities in a wide range of eminent domain, land use and real estate matters. Prior to private practice, he was an Assistant Attorney General in Colorado, where he represented the State Board of Land Commissioners. |
| Malcom M. Murray emphasizes land use, eminent domain, property tax and environmental law, and has extensive litigation experience. He has represented both governmental and private clients. Previously, he was the Assistant Attorney General for Colorado. | | |
